This year, the German Association of University Women - DAB (Deutscher Akademikerinnen Bund) celebrates the centenary of its founding. Among the founding members are Marie-Elisabeth Lüders and Agnes von Zahn-Harnack. Prominent figures, now considered outstanding representatives of science, were already members of the association at that time, including Dr. Lise Meitner and Dr. Elisabeth Selbert, who successfully championed the wording of Article 3 of the Basic Law, as well as many other female scientists. Whilst women fought for the right to attend universities just over 100 years ago, they now hold top positions in academia, business and politics.

We will celebrate this anniversary in Berlin with a two-day symposium, together with prominent contemporary women, and take a look at the history of our association and the historical women's movement. There will also be ample time for networking and excursions in the German capital, Berlin. We look forward to your participation!

We look forward to your attendance!
